4th & 5th November. Brussels

Biography

Maria Gabrielsen Jumbert is a senior researcher at the Peace Research Institute Oslo (PRIO), where she coordinates the Research group on Humanitarianism. Since she joined PRIO in 2011, she has researched the ethical, legal and political questions raised by the surveillance of Europe's maritime borders, in the wake of the establishment of the European border surveillance system EUROSUR and the consequences for migrants seeking to cross the Mediterranean.

She has written about how border surveillance is presented as an overall solution to current cross-border challenges, and how boat refugees are a common responsibility for Europe and Schengen. She defended her PhD at the Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Paris (SciencesPo CER) in 2010, on the internationalization of the conflicts in South Sudan and Darfur.
